Questions

- How could the LIFE Computer Club use a Discussion Board?
- Who should be allowed to use such a beast?
- Who will administer and who will monitor the LIFE Computer Club Discussion Board?

Established, but empty

This discussion board is offered as a way for members of The LIFE Computer Club to ask and answer questions, and to provide comments on technology products and technology trends. The intended users are members of The LIFE Institute. The ability to participate on this discussion board is a benefit that the LIFE Computer Club offers to all members of The LIFE Institute (and may provide a reason for more LIFE Institute members to also become members of the Computer Club).

Note that this discussion board is being hosted on a "free" commercial hosting service. We "pay" for this "free" service by agreeing to have a rotating advertisement appear on every page. If this board gets popular enough and if enough LIFE Members join the Computer Club, we will have the resources to pay for an ad-free version of this hosting service, ... but that's a concern for the future.

Basic Idea

- Anyone is free to read the online discussion
 - Could contain much helpful tech info
- Any registered user is free to:
 - Comment on any post to the board
 - Start a new discussion thread
 - Post a note about an interesting event
- Something like the monthly Q & A, but can take place any time
